MISCELLANEOUS.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.
J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.

THE GIRL OPPOSITE

....By Leslie Gray

Copyright, 1902, by McClure's Newspaper Syndicate

Sudden starting of the elevated train fairly jerked Alston Davis into a seat. His armful of papers slid to the floor.

As he stooped to recover them his glance fell upon the face of the girl opposite.

It was delicate and sensitive, framed in a soft mass of hair. There was something attractive in the clear pallor of her cheeks and the appealing droop of the mouth. Yet Alston smiled grimly.

"One of the clinging type that I despise," he said to himself. "The kind that scream at a mouse, and all women are more or less of that variety. It only shows how stubborn Ursula is when she argues that they have courage. Courage!"

But the girl must have become conscious of his contemptuous scrutiny, for a flush rose to her cheek and she turned toward the window. Thus admonished, Alston betook himself to his paper.

He had just buried himself in the stock quotations when the sheet was almost torn from his hand. Some one lurched heavily against him.

He looked up in surprise not unmixed with anger, but the aggressor was already part way up the aisle. It was a woman who, staggered blindly up the car. Now she turned uncertainly so that he could see her face.

She was no pleasant sight. She was black haired, black browed, middle aged and drunk. Dirt and grime had taken all vestige of respectability from her shabby clothes. A rusty black bonnet was perched rakishly on the back of her head. From beneath this gray-black locks straggled. On one cheek was the mark of a bruise. As she again lurched past, evidently groping for the door, her eyes were fixed in a glassy stare. Her lips muttered unintelligibly.

Alston's ear caught a sigh that was half a sob. The girl opposite was gazing at the woman with fascinated, fear dilated eyes. Others in the car were watching—and smiling. Now, as a lurch of the train flung her into an empty seat, there was an audible titter. Not a hand was raised to help her.

In a minute she was on her feet again, but the shock had turned her round, and she began a second labored passage up the car.

The girl had sunk into a miserable little heap. Alston watched her half pityingly, half anxiously. "She was just the kind of a girl to faint away," he told himself.

As the woman passed he caught among her mutterings the word "Twenty-third." Evidently that was the station where she wished to get off. Some one would have to help her. Who? The motorman stood stolidly on the platform between the cars. Alston comforted himself with the reflection that it was no business of his if a woman got so jolly drunk she could not take care of herself. City life superinduces a certain hardness.

To quiet his guilty conscience he turned again to the girl.

She, too, had caught the word "Twenty-third." It was the next station. She looked around appealingly. She was the only woman in the car. The men were engrossed in their papers or smiling broadly at the fun.

Her face whitened into determination. She got up hastily and touched the woman on the arm. The wretched creature turned aggressively, but something of the pain and pity in the young face seemed to pierce her befuddled brain.

"Twenty-third street," she said thickly, while a fatuous smile spread over her face.

"You want to get off at Twenty-third," the girl repeated gently. "Yes; I know. I will help you off."

Alston sprang to her side. "Let me help," he implored.

The girl turned to him defiantly. "No; thank you," she said in cool, even tones.

She drew her slender figure to its full height and took the woman's arm in hers. As she piloted the trembling figure down the long length of the car the smiles died away. There was such unveiled contempt in her flashing eyes that every man cowered.

Alston watched her in shamefaced wonder. This creature of fire and passion, this avenging goddess, was very different from the shy girl who had shrunk before his gaze.

Almost before he realized the train had stopped, had started and Twenty-third was left far behind. The girl opposite did not come back to her seat. She had left the car with her charge. As he thought of the gray eyes that had not flinched during that journey down the aisle the satisfied look of the self appointed judge had given place to a new humility.

* * * * * * *

"Alston, I want you to meet Miss Harcourt," his sister Ursula said as he strolled into her drawing room a night or two later. He saw a slender figure in pale gray and a delicate face framed in soft hair. His heart gave a great throb.

"You have often heard me speak of Elizabeth"— But she broke off in astonishment. A slow flush had crept up to the roots of her brother's hair, and, turning, she saw it was vividly reflected in the cheeks of the girl at her side.

"Oh, then you have met before? And I had been congratulating myself that I would be the first to make you friends!"

"Yes, we have met before," Alston answered unsteadily, in pity for the blushing girl, and he bent down in his courtliest manner and kissed a hand that trembled.

Ursula, observant sister, saw that explanations were due, so she stole away. Alston promptly sat down beside Miss Harcourt on the big divan.

"Can you forgive my impertinence in staring at you the other day?" he asked, too impetuous to waste time on preliminary conventionalities. "Oh, if you could only know how often I have thought of you since that afternoon and how I have loathed myself! Every man of us in that car was a cad, too fearful of public opinion to show that poor creature the commonest humanity. You put us all to shame by your courage. I dared not tell my sister that we were friends, but I want to be. Will you let me show you that I am not utterly a coward?" He held out his hand appealingly.

The girl gave him her hand. "I have thought about you, too," she confessed shyly, "but not as a cad. I was afraid that you would think me too forward. And I was rude too. You see, I recognized you from one of your photographs, and I knew you were not a coward. I knew I should meet you when I came here today"— She paused, and a rich tide of color swept over her cheeks.

Alston had meant to take her hand, but sudden intuition made him draw her to him instead.

"We shall be friends—and lovers," he whispered. And she did not say him nay.

Painting a Prince In Siam.

A well known New York artist, who has just returned from an extended journey in the far east, tells how he attempted to paint the portrait of a native prince in Korea:

"For more than three hours the prince sat motionless and without a word, like a statue. 'It is finished,' I told him at last, and he jumped up like a child and ran over to see the work. His delight was unbounded, and he seized my hand and began to shake it in a most enthusiastic manner.

"Suddenly he became grave and stared at the picture in a mystified way. He looked and looked, and then peered around at the back of the canvas. He seemed horrified beyond expression.

"'What is it?' I inquired.

"'You have not put in my jade ornament,' said he in despair.

"I had painted his portrait full face, and as the Koreans have a strange habit of putting small buttons of gold, silver, jade or amber behind the left ear these, of course, did not appear.

"My explanations did not satisfy the prince, so I did a rapid sketch of him in profile, bringing in the jade ornament.

"'That is all very well,' said he, 'but now where is the other eye?'"

Uses For the Baby Carriage.

"Did you ever notice the uses to which baby carriages are put?" asked the observant man. "Just look at those children taking those puppies out for an airing. The youngest child was graduated from that perambulator less than two years ago, I'll bet. The carriage is somewhat rickety now, and a careful mother would hardly intrust an infant to it, but it makes a good plaything for the children.

"I see laundresses wheeling baskets of clean clothes home to their customers in baby carriages. It beats walking and carrying a big basket. Only this morning I noticed two poorly clad girls gathering odds and ends of boards thrown aside by carpenters who were building a house. They put their stock of fuel in a baby carriage. I suppose they will take the baby out in that same perambulator this afternoon."—New York Press.

Pat Was a Sideboard.

An Irishman went to a foundry in Lancashire after work. When he arrived, he found another man there on the same errand. The foreman came, and Pat, being unaccustomed to asking for work, stood back, with the intention of hearing how the other fellow went about it.

After the man had asked, the foreman said, "What trade are you?"

"I'm a dresser," replied the man.

"Come tomorrow," said the foreman. "I'll start you."

Turning to the Irishman, the foreman asked him what he was.

"Be jabers, sorr," replied Pat, "Ol'm a sideboard!"—London Standard.

CLEANING

House is one of the duties that a weak woman looks forward to with dread. As a rule, she knows that she must pay for the over-strain with days or weeks of womanly suffering.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"I took two bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and two of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and am feeling well," writes Mrs. Dan McKenzie, of Norway Mines, Cape Breton Co., Nova Scotia. "I had uterine trouble, also pain in the side and headache. After taking your medicine I was cured. You may publish this or use it in any way you think best, as I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce and his medicine."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R.V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Wonderful Minute Shells.

There is a sand bank at Connemara, on the west coast of Ireland, that is the Mecca of every curiosity seeker who is fortunate enough to know of its existence. As a general thing sand banks are not a great attraction, but in this particular case the attractive power is not in the sand itself, but in the millions of extinct miniature shells which are almost as numerous as the grains of sand with which they are intermingled. The largest of these little wonders is smaller than the smallest pinhead and some of them so minute that they can easily be put through the eye of a common sewing needle, yet each is as perfect as the pearly nautilus, the spider shell, the sea urchin or any other marine oddity.

They are of all shapes and forms imaginable. One will have the perfect outlines of a miniature basket, another will look like a fairy's tobacco box, while a third needs no effort of the imagination to give it the form of a bottle. The flash shells of Ceylon and Australia are the only living representatives of these conchological wonders. Naturalists who have examined the Ceylonese flash shells say that each is filled with a tiny bit of jellylike substance, which of course is the animal itself, but which is so infinitesimal that no distinction can be observed between head and heart, mouth and stomach.

Eskimo Mythology.

Among the Eskimos the sun is a maiden, and the moon is her brother who is overcome by a wicked passion for her. Once as this girl was at a dancing party in a friend's hut some one came up and took hold of her by the shoulders and shook her, which is, according to the legend, the Eskimo manner of declaring one's love. She could not tell who it was in the dark, and so she slipped her hand in some soot and smeared one of his cheeks with it. When a light was struck in the hut, she saw to her dismay that it was her brother, and without waiting to learn any more she took to her heels. He started in hot pursuit. And so they ran until they got to the end of the world, the jumping off place, when they both jumped into the sky. There the moon still chases his sister, the sun, and every now and then he turns his sooty cheek to the earth, when he becomes so dark that you cannot see him.

Profitable Feeding!

It is positive economy to buy the very best feed. You might feed a hen all she can eat on cheap feed and she will never lay an egg. Would you fatten a hog on hay? You might feed a hen until she was as fat as a goose, but fat hens are not good layers. It depends upon the kind of feed you give, whether they will lay enough eggs to return a profit. If you want the hens to lay, you must give them the kind of feed that makes egg production.

If you will feed one meal a day of the year round, many of the hens will lay 200 eggs during the year; but if you go on feeding in the old way, they will not lay one half that many.

Coulson's Egg Food is not expensive. You can buy it nearly as cheap as wheat—only $1.60 per sack in round lots.

The cost of feeding is from 12 to 15 cents per hundred hens, and if you mix other food with it, it would be still less.

Nearly 50 tons a month used by the poultrymen of Sonoma County.

Four weeks ago E. Classen of Penn's grove was getting four eggs a day. He bought half a ton of COULSONS EGG FOOD and gave the hens one meal a day of it, and he now gets 125 eggs a day, and each day more.

Poultrymen who will feed COULSONS EGG FOOD and will keep it up, will find it the very best kind of feed for laying hens.

Healthy hens, more eggs, more money.

Ten sacks of this feed for $16.

Should Mend the Errors of His Way.

Trustee Breitenbach, it is now said, is wearying of opposing public improvements and is sick and tired of throwing impediments in the way of the Womans' Improvement Club in its efforts for the betterment of the town and has asked, or will ask, the ladies of the club to be placed right before the public, claiming that he has always stood in with them as a City Trustee.

Evidently Trustee Breitenbach thinks that the members of the Womans' Improvement Club have very short memories that they may have forgotten the impediments he has thrown in their way from time to time as a member of the Board of City Trustees. But we opine that their memories are not so lax as he would hope them to be.

Ever since assuming his seat on the Board, a little over a year ago, and the minutes will prove it, he has been antagonistic to almost everything that the Womans' Improvement Club has favored.

First—It was upon the motion of this Trustee that the street lights were shut off and the town relegated to darkness.

Second—It was upon a motion made by Trustee Breitenbach that a Board of Health, which was working in harmony with the Womans' Club to place Sonoma in a sanitary condition, was virtually abolished in the face of the club's protest. This act alone was sufficient to condemn him in the eyes of every man, woman and child in the community, as this town has been menaced by death dealing epidemics ever since that Board of Health was retired, as the one appointed in its stead has been a dead letter.

Third—When a petition was presented to the City Trustees, signed by many prominent members of the Woman's Improvement Club and at least by nine-tenths of the property-owners of Sonoma, praying that the street-lighting service be restored at the old rate, upon whose motion was that petition consigned to the waste basket and never heard of afterward? We answer, it was this same Trustee Breitenbach who now has the presumption to appeal to the Woman's Club to be set right before the people.

Fourth—When the question of fixing the tax levy for the present fiscal year came up for consideration before the Board of City Trustees did not Trustee Breitenbach oppose by voice and vote a levy for the New City Hall Building Fund, in his efforts to abolish that fund and defeat an improvement endorsed by the Womans' Club. He would have succeeded, too, had not Trustee Pinelli came to the rescue of Trustees Hotz and Ciucci and defeated his purpose by voting for the levy.

No need for the Woman's Club to set Trustee Breitenbach right before the people. When the offending Trustee sees fit to mend the errors of his way as a public servant and will work in harmony with the Womans' Club and the progressive citizens of the town this paper will accord him due credit. But until he does do this he must expect to be criticised by the newspapers and condemned by the general public.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

The Dunbar Improvement Club met in Mervyn Hall Saturday and decided to co-operate with the ladies of the Sonoma Woman's Club in celebrating the Fourth of July and making it a roaring success.

Ed. Skahan is up to his eyes in business and has just returned from a business trip to the metropolis. A few more men like him in this community would float our burg on the top wave of prosperity. There is no moss on him.

Mrs. and Miss Hanford, Mr. C. L. Coburn of San Francisco, Mrs. Wm. Hill, Miss Alice Kearney, Misses Jean and Pearl Young of San Francisco and Mrs. A. Severance and Mrs. W. H. Wheeler are enjoying the delight of summer life on the Ross Ranch.

St. Peter's picnic, in charge of Father Casey, held forth Tuesday in the Park. The attendance was very large, twenty two passenger coaches of the California Northwestern being impressed into service by the railroad people to transport the picnicers here and return them to the city.

There have been several purses containing money lost in the cars of the California Northwestern by visitors and campers the past week. As soon as the train stops a band of idle boys rush through the cars and pick up everything in sight. The money is quickly divided between the street gamins and the loser is lucky to recover even the empty purse. The way the thing is managed now a trace of a missing purse is seldom found. On Sunday last Miss Alice Kearney left in the seat she was occupying on the cars a satchel purse containing $20 in coin, a return railway ticket, several pieces of jewelry and other little articles of value. She missed the purse shortly after leaving the cars and immediately returned in the hopes of recovering it, but it had been found and appropriated by the finder. Another lady also lost a pocketbook containing quite a sum of money on the cars which was missed almost before alighting from the train, but upon returning to her seat discovered that it had been picked up by some one. Later on she succeeded in recovering the purse and $2 50 of the money, the balance having been confiscatod by a number of boys who had found the purse and divided the swag between them. Some means should be devised by the railroad company to have one of their employees go through the train upon its arrival here and look after articles which in the excitement and bustle of reaching their journey's end are carelessly and thoughtlessly left in the seats by the passengers.

A WIFE'S CONFESSION.

How a Girl's Strategy Won.

Of course every one knew when they were engaged and every one pretended to be surprised when they heard it was suddenly broken off. It was first said she had broken it off, then that his heart had changed, but finally she confessed that she had been so irritable, so depressed and blue that she had fairly driven him away. Her good looks were vanishing. She was getting thin, pale, and hollow-cheeked, with dark circles around her eyes. Suddenly all society was pleased again to hear of the engagement being renewed, and it was not long before a beautiful and radiant bride was taken to the altar. She had regained her good looks, her former happy disposition and strong nerve all through a secret a friend gave her. A wife had confessed to her that she had almost driven her husband to suicide with her bad temper, her nervousness and irritability, and she had found that it all developed from a weakness of the womanly organs. A few months' treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription completely changed her; she had cured herself and again made the home happy. A few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is what made two more lives happy and a radiant bride more beautiful than she had ever appeared before.

Normally a woman should have no discomfort so far as feelings of distress are concerned, at each recurring period. But modern civilization has added its conditions of ever-present suffering to a large proportion of American women. The majority of such cases are due to local inflammatory or congested conditions which can be overcome by the right treatment. Of course, this local irritation is followed by headaches, backaches, nervousness, irritability, and, indeed, often results in nervous prostration or collapse which might have been avoided by proper treatment.

As soon as the organs essentially feminine get out of order, or a catarrhal condition exists, this disturbance is telegraphed throughout the whole system by the sympathetic nerves and the woman will suffer from pain in head and extreme nervousness. In all such cases an aggravating feature is usually HABITUAL constipation, and this should be corrected by the use of a good vegetable laxative just previous to the time for recurrence of the pains. The local disorder and inflammation of the delicate, special organs of the sex should be treated steadily and systematically. Doctor Pierce has advised his "Favorite Prescription" so many times in the diseases peculiar to women that he knows it's an unfailing remedy in most of the disorders of the sex. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that would make it easily procured and ready-to-use. It is not like the usual patent medicine—for it contains no alcohol—nor does it contain any narcotic, and it is purely vegetable.

ADVICE TO MARRIED WOMEN.

It is an evil day for the wife and mother when she scans her worn face in the mirror, and asks the question, "Does it pay? Does it pay to sacrifice health and happiness to wedded love?" But there is another question which rightly takes precedence of Does it pay? It is this: "Is it necessary to sacrifice health and happiness to wedded love?" Half a million women answer, No! They have been weak and have been made strong by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. They were sick and "Favorite Prescription" made them well. It will do the same for almost every woman who gives it a fair and faithful trial. It stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves and encourages the appetite.

A Heart to Heart Talk

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Their financial responsibility is well known to every newspaper publisher and druggist in the United States, with most of whom they have done business for over a third of a century. From this fact it will readily be seen how utterly foolish it would be for them to make the above unprecedented and remarkable offer if they were not basing their offer on curative means having an unparalleled record. No other medicine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription could possibly "win out," as the saying goes, on such a proposition. But they know whereof they speak. They have the most remarkable record of cures made by this world-famed remedy ever placed to the credit of any preparation especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. This wonderful remedy, therefore, stands absolutely alone as the only one possessed of such remarkable curative properties as would warrant its makers in publishing such a marvelous offer as is above made in the utmost good faith.

Mrs. O. O. Scripture, of Prescott, Ariz., L. Box 536, writes: "Words cannot express how grateful I am for what your medicines have done for me. For nearly two years I was a great sufferer with ulceration and enlargement of womb, also suffered severely with dyspepsia and was run down—a perfect wreck. I doctored for several years; got no better, until about seven months ago I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and also his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am nearly well now, can stand on my feet and work hard all day. I feel that life is now worth living, and shall ever feel grateful to you and shall always recommend your medicines to all who are suffering in any way.

"I feel it my duty to write a few words that may be of help to some sufferer," writes Mrs. Minnie Richmond, of Howard City, Mich. "For years I suffered with weakness and doctored with several physicians, receiving little help. Two years ago was taken so bad that I could not do my work. Went to a doctor and he said I had ulceration of womb. I doctored for months, but got no better, then wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for advice. I followed his directions and after taking his medicines (three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' two vials 'Pleasant Pellets,' and using one box of your 'Lotion Tablets), was cured. I would say to those suffering, consult Dr. Pierce; it costs but little compared with expense of other physicians, and his treatment will do more good in one month than others will do in one year."

If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures, do not accept a substitute which has none of these cures to its credit.

If you are looking for a perfect laxative try Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

BASEBALL.

Sonoma Boys to Try Conclusions with a Nine from the Santa Rosa League.

What promises to be an interesting game of ball will be played tomorrow afternoon in this place between a picked nine from tne Santa Rosa League and a nine from the Sonoma Baseball Club. The game will be called at 2 o'clock and it will no doubt be stubbornly contested by both sides. These games are becoming quite popular with our people and always bring out a large crowd.

The ball game played on the Sonoma baseball grounds, last Sunday afternoon, between the Gatner, Mattern & Co's nine of San Francisco and the Sonoma boys was won by the former by a score of 11 to 7. The game was quite an exciting one and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators.

WELL EARNED PROMOTION.

Matt Johnson is Now Master of the Big Steamer Corona.

Matt Johnson, eldest son of Capt. J. Johnson of this valley, one of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's most trusted employees, has again been promoted and he is now the Master of the Corona, plying between San Francisco and Eureka.

On the occasion of his first trip on May 7 as Master of the Corona, Captain Johnson was the recipient of a neat little token of esteem from the commercial travelers aboard the steamer in the shape of a solid gold anchor watch charm. Capt Johnson, who has long been in the employ of the P. C. S. S Company as a second and first officer, is well-known to the traveling public and has made many friends, particularly among the commercial travelers, hence their little token of esteem.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia.
It makes life miserable.
Its sufferers eat not because they want to, —but simply because they must.
They know they are irritable and fretful, but they cannot be otherwise.
They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffy fulness, headache, heartburn and what not.
The effectual remedy, proved by permanent cures of thousands of severe cases, is

FARMING ON THE RECLAIMED LANDS

Turn Out a Big Yield of Hay and Oats.

The harvest is about over on the reclaimed tule lands bordering on Sonoma and Petaluma creeks in the southern part of the valley. It now transpires that, notwithstanding there was a very slight rainfall in April and none at all in May, the hay and oat crop on the reclaimed tule land ranches have turned out more than an average yield this season.

On the Pacific Reclamation Company's ranch below Schellville the crop of both hay and oats is simply immense, and foreman Joe Keechler has more confidence in our reclaimed lands than ever before. It took over thirty five hands nearly a month to harvest the crop on this ranch, which will amount to 3,000 tons of hay and 5000 sacks of white oats. This, considering the acreage seeded, is a splendid showing for our reclaimed tule lands during a dry season or for a wet one for that matter. These lande never fail in maturing a crop.

SHAY VS. BARLEY IN SUPERIOR COURT

Judge Burnett Decides in Favor of Plaintiff.

An opinion was handed down by Judge Burnett in the Superior Court of this county, Tuesday morning, in the civil action of Shay vs Barley, an action brought in the Justice's Court in this place to recover the sum of $299, value of certain live stock and agricultural implements claimed by plaintiff, but which defendant contended had been sold to him when he bought her ranch some years ago. Plaintiff secured judgment in the Justice's Court and defendant appealed the case. Judge Burnett's decision follows:

"The testimony at the trial of this cause was so conflicting that it is difficult to reconcile it upon the presumption of the veracity of the witnesses. I have endeavored, however, to accord due weight to the infirmity of memory and to the natural bias of the personal interest in the result, and to acquit as far as possible, the witnesses of a deliberate purpose to misrepresent the facts, and thus mislead the court. The witnesses for the defendant were more numerous than those for the plaintiff, but the testimony of the latter has produced in my mind a conviction of the merit of the plaintiff's contention, which has not been overcome by the showing made on behalf of defendants. Plaintiff will have judgment. It is so ordered."

This is the first case we ever heard of where a person sold a costly ranch and then loaned the purchaser the live stock and agricultural implements on the place to work that ranch. But according to the above decision, and the Judge who tried the case is a very fair one, Mrs. Shay must have did this very thing.

Jim Dumps was father of a lass
Who, by her brightness, led her class.
The teacher asked Miss Dumps the question:
"How can you best assist digestion?"
"By eating 'Force.'" When told to him,
This story tickled "Sunny Jim."

"My little boy was very sick and would not take any nourishment. I got a package of 'Force' and fed him on it, and am pleased to say he is thriving. I will now put him beside any boy of his age, as he is big and healthy. All I feed him on is 'Force.'
"MRS. J. LINDLEY KEENE."

E. T. Allen in Rhode Island.

E. T. Allen of this place has been absent in Rhode Island, his native State, the past few weeks on important business. Mr. Allen participated in the Memorial Day exercises in Wakefield, after an absence of twenty years. In mentioning the circumstance the Narragansett Times of June 5th says:

"One of the features was the presence of Captain Edward T. Allen of San Francisco, who for the first time participated in the Memorial Day parade here. He was a lieutenant, and afterwards captain, in the 7th Rhode Island. It was interesting to see the meeting between him and the old drummer and fifer of his company, Frank Holland and Jas. Carpenter, neither of whom he had met for twenty years. The presence of war governor Wm. Sprague, who seemingly grows younger as the years go by, was another feature. There are now but three living war governors, Ramsey of Minnesota, having died during the past year, and governor Sprague is distinguished as the only governor who ever took the field in person, having acted as an aid to general Burnside at Bull Run, and holding a commission as brigadier general signed by Lincoln and secretary Stanton. The saddest feature though, is the depleted ranks of the G. A. R. Seven have fallen during the past year here at home, and soon it is the outsiders who must shoulder the burden of keeping the memory of the Grand Army green on succeeding memorial days.

"There was a large number in attendance at the exercises at the monument and the streets were thronged all along the route of the parade."

A VICTORY FOR ATTORNEY WEBBER

As its Legal Advisor He Saves Sonoma County a Big Sum of Money.

In 1899 an attempt was made by the Attorney-General to force the Board of Supervisors of Sonoma county to pay into the State Treasury the sum of $6.035, alleged to be due the State from this county for the care and maintenance of certain inmates of the California Home at Eldridge.

Ex-District Attorney Webber, who was then holding office, strenuously opposed, as the legal advisor of the Supervisors, the payment of the claim, holding that it was clearly an illegal charge against the county.

On Mr. Webber's advice the Supervisors rejected the claim. Suit was then commenced in the Superior Court of this county by the State to collect the alleged claim Attorney Webber, representing Sonoma county, fought the claim from start to finish with rare legal ability, with the result that Judge Dougherty, who tried the case in the Superior Court, gave judgment against the State. An appeal was then taken by the Attorney General to the State Supreme Court and on Saturday last that tribunal sustained Judge Dougherty's decision. Hon. A. B. Ware of Santa Rosa conducted the case for the county with great ability before the higher tribunal.

Since the suit was commenced four years ago the alleged claim had swelled to something like $15,000.

That sum represents what the tax payers of the county would have been out in pocket had ex-District Attorney Webber been less mindful of their interests.

MURDERED AND ROBBED IN MEXICO.

John Dunbacher Waylaid by Mexican Bandits.

John Dunbacher, well-known to many residents in this valley, was waylaid and murdered by bandits near San Blas, Mexico, last April.

Dunbacher worked for Jas. McMackin for six or eight years and frequently run McMackin's feed mill in this place. He left here a number of years ago and went to Napa. Being seized with a spirit of adventure he left there for the mines in Mexico and secured employment in the mines at Tojo at big wages. Here he worked steadily for several years and accumulated several thousand dollars.

About two months ago he threw up his job and started for San Blas on foot, where he intended taking a steamer for California. Just before reaching his destination he was attached by bandits who murdered and robbed him.

The body was found three miles from San Blas perforated with bullets. Beside him lay his revolver, every chamber of which was empty, proving he had put up a game fight to save his life.

R. F. Grisby, the superintendent of the mine in which Dunbacher worked, is now in San Francisco and it is through him that the particulars of Dunbacher's sad ending was made known to his friends here.

TO CELEBRATE TOGETHER.

Glen Ellen will Join Sonoma In Celebrating the Fourth Of July.

At the last meeting of the Dunbar Improvement Club held at Glen Ellen, at the invitation of the Woman's Club of this place, through its President, Mrs. Hill, it was decided to accept the same and participate in the celebration of the Fourth of July at Sonoma, which will be under the auspices of the latter club. The Glen Ellen Club will send a float and cavalcade of young ladies and gentlemen on horseback. The charming girl who will ride as Queen upon the float will be elected by popular vote, a ballot box having been placed at the Glen Ellen postoffice to receive the votes. The committee in charge of the Glen Ellen part of the celebration is composed of W. L. Ashe, Thomas Johnson, Frank Lemoine, Leopold Just and A. S. Wood. The members of the Glen Ellen Parlor of the Native Sons will also turn out in uniform in the parade. Jas. Cowan has been selected to handle the ribbons on the spirited bays that will furnish the motive power to draw the float. The Glen Ellen Grange will also be represented, and the start for Sonoma will be made from Glen Ellen park on the morning of the Fourth.

Horse Talk.

There was an exciting pacing race at Kenilworth park, Petaluma, last Sunday, says the Courier. A large audience was present to witness the race between John Lawler's Jim Chase and W. E. Lord's Kittie D. The former horse was driven by Warne Moore and Kittie D by Joe Ryan, Kittie D. winning the race in three straight heats; time, 2:29, 2:28 and 2:30.

The second heat was very close, Kittie D. winning by a nose.

Jim Chase is a rattling good green horse, but was up against a former champion.

They will try conclusions again on July 4th at the same track.

John Lawler's horse has been in training three weeks and is only a colt. The stuff is there and can be brought out. The race was for a $100 purse.

John will put Jim Chase in training at Kenilworth park and on July 4th when he goes up against Kittie D. there will excitement galore.

An Ideal Summer Resort.

The Mervyn Hotel at Glen Ellen, since it became the property of Mr. and Mrs. P. Monahan, has undergone many changes and is now one of the best appointed and most popular summer resorts in the valley. It is an ideal stopping place for those seeking rest and enjoyment in the country during the hot summer months. Mr. and Mrs. Monahan are most excellent caterers and are very popular with their guests, as they ought to be, as nothing is left undone for their comfort and convenience. The Mervyn is having a very successful run this season.

Mr. Joseph Porinville, of Stillwater, Minn., after having spent over $2,000 with the best doctors for stomach trouble, without relief, was advised by his druggist, Mr. Alex. He did so, and is a well man to-day If troubled with indigestion, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite or constipation, give these Tablets a trial, and you are certain to be more than pleased with the result. The Cherry Crop.

The cherry crop in Sonoma Valley is about picked and the yield has been way above the average. Prices, too, have been very satisfactory, large quantities having been disposed of at 5½c per pound. Cherries this season, in consequence of a heavy yield and good prices, has placed many a ready dollar in the pockets of our farmers.

In Good Health

A woman makes her toilet with care and content. But in bad health it often happens that the gratification of being well attired is lost. There is hardly strength to brush and dress the hair, and there is small courage to make the effort to keep up appearances.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, by making them well. The common cause of feminine weakness is found in a diseased condition of the womanly organism. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. The tonic effects of this medicine are remarkable; it soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep. It gives comfort and courage to prospective mothers, and practically does away with the pains commonly experienced at maternity.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Women suffering from disease in aggravated form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All letters are read in private and womanly confidences held in absolute secresy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It Surprised Her.

"I enjoy good health; thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. J. J. Schnetzer, of Pontiac, Livingston Co., Ill. "Have taken six bottles of each kind. I was taken sick last February and the doctors here called it 'Grip.' I lay for four weeks in bed, and then when I got up I found I had 'displacement.' Had such aches and pains in my back and limbs could not stand any length of time. I knew that our home doctor would insist the first thing on an examination, and that I would not submit to, unless I was dangerously sick, and then it would be too late to do any good. My son had your book, Common Sense Medical Adviser, and I thought from reading it that Dr. Pierce's medicines would do me more good than all the home doctors—and so it has. If any one had told me it would do me so much good I would have said 'Oh no, not that much good.' I can say truly I was surprised at the benefit I received. I can do all my washing and also tend my flower garden. In fact I am on my feet most all the time. An old friend of mine said to me, 'Why, what is the matter with you? You are getting young again.' I told her I had taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicine, and that if she would do likewise she would feel ten years younger, too."

Five Physicians Helpless.

"I feel it my duty to write to you and let you know how much your medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. Wm. Hackett, of Breesport, Chemung Co., N. Y. "It is one of the best that I ever used in my life. Before I began to use your medicine it seemed as though I would never be well again. Could not stand on my feet five minutes without fainting. Could not walk to my neighbors. Would have a vomiting spell that would last three hours at a time. My limbs would tremble so I could not even wait on myself. Then I had a severe time of chronic inflammation of the liver, then uterine trouble, then heart disease. I had five of the best physicians that could be found. They said to my friends 'there is no help for her.' One said I could not live the winter out, one told me that if I got temporary relief that was all that could be done. My mother said to me one day when she was there, 'Do you know you cannot get well?' I told her I did. She said 'What are you going to do about the baby? Do you want me to care for her—or some one else?' It seemed as though she had pierced me with a sword, to think of leaving my little girl without a mother, it seemed as though I could not stand it, and when my friends were telegraphed to that I was dying, and seeing them weep by my bed, that seemed as though I could never stand to hear them repeat that they would 'take care of the baby and give her a good home.' I think if ever any one has been through with such a terrible thing they can sympathize with me.

"There are a great many ladies that I have begged to use Dr. Pierce's medicine and told what it has done for me. With the first two bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' it seemed as though I was getting worse. With the next two I was feeling so well that I could do my work and be real jolly. With the next two I felt like a new being."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address as above.

THE CALIFORNIA HOME MEETING.

Directors to Take Action on Petition for Re-instatement of Dr. Osborne

The directors of the California Home will meet at Eldridge next Monday, and it is expected that all of the five directors will be present.

The principal matter that will come up for consideration will be the petition asking that former Superintendent A. E. Osborne be re-appointed to his old position.

The result of the meeting will be looked forward to with great interest by the people of this valley, most of whom favor the appointment of Dr. Osborne, but who also recognize in Dr. Dawson, an able physician, gentleman and scholar, whose only fault is that he has not the experience possessed by Dr. Osborne in caring for and training the feeble minded.

A JAPANESE GARDEN.

Follow This Recipe and You Will Have One Complete.

The classical garden, like a sonnet, is governed by special laws of harmony and rhythm. It must have its five hills, its ten trees and its fourteen stones. You can get along without the hills, and you can get along without the trees, but you cannot get along without stones. Indeed the perfect type of the flat garden is nothing but an archipelago of rocks in a sea of white pebbles. The stones must be the foundation; the rest are mere accessories. Speaking stones are what is wanted—stones that suggest moods and passions—for the Japanese recognize that there are sermons in stones. Each stone has its name and relative place in the composition. There is the guardian stone in the center and opposite it the belleview stone. Across the cascade is the moonshade stone and so on.

The hills unmask each other by rule. The principal hill has its two foothills, its spur hills, its distant peak, seen through a valley, and the low hill that must stand on the opposite side of the lake.

As there are a principal stone and a principal hill, so must there be a "principal tree," the shojin boku, around which the Tree of Perfection, the Tree of Evil, the Tree of the Setting Sun, the Tree of Science and the Tree of Solitude bow their lesser heads.

These are the essentials. Now, add one pond, one island, two stone lanterns, three bridges and mix thoroughly, garnish with lotus and serve with goldfish and mandarin duck. There is a recipe for a Japanese garden.—William Verbeck in Country Life.

A SMALL LIBRARY.

The Principle of Selection on Which It Should Be Based.

I think that a limit of three books will usually allow a very fair representation of a novelist. For instance, Thackeray is very fairly represented by "Vanity Fair," "Henry Esmond" and "Pendennis" and Dickens by "Pickwick," "David Copperfield" and "Martin Chuzzlewit." Walter Scott would not suffer by one choosing "Ivanhoe," "The Bride of Lammermoor" and "The Heart of Midlothian." "Tom Jones" would suffice for Fielding and "Pride and Prejudice" for Jane Austen. "The Mill on the Floss" for George Eliot and "The Ordeal of Richard Feverel" for George Meredith. Taking only the great outstanding figures, Tolstoi need only be present with "Anna Karenina" and "War and Peace" and Emile Zola with, say, "Drink" and "The Dream." "The Three Musketeers" and "The Count of Monte-Christo" would suffice for Alexandre Dumas and "Les Miserables" and "Notre Dame de Paris" for Victor Hugo. It is harder to say of the vast mountain range of Balzac on what particular peaks our choice should fall, but probably here again the most popular books will prove the most typical—"Le Pere Goriot," "Eugenie Grandet" and "The Ass' Skin."

I am not, it must be understood, making a list of books "without which," as the booksellers say, "no gentleman's library is complete." I am only taking a few standard authors for the purpose of illustrating a principle of selection which must perforce operate in a small library. If our library does not or cannot contain the best books, it must certainly contain some of them, and, however idiosyncratic of its owner, it must bear the stamp of a general distinction.—Richard Le Gallienne in Success

Foretells Death by Sense of Smell.

There's an old superstition that a howling dog in front of the house of an ill person portends death. One prominent physician believes absolutely in it. This physician has a wonderfully acute sense of smell. Frequently, he says, he can foretell the coming of death within forty-eight hours of a patient's demise. Within two days of death, he says, a peculiar earthy odor becomes noticeable about a person about to die. He tells of one case where he became aware of the peculiar odor while talking to an apparently healthy man. That night the man dropped dead of heart disease.

The physician is far from attributing the peculiar manifestation to other than physiological reasons. His own sense of smell is abnormally acute.—New York Press.

Hotel Bills In England.

The author of "Portugal Old and New" finds fault with English hotel keepers for using a printed form of bill on which the plain requirements of a simple traveler are lost amid a multitude of items. The result is that when a guest pays for a day's and a night's lodging he is positively almost ashamed at finding due registry of his having wanted neither liquors nor stationery nor warm baths nor douche baths nor shower baths nor pots of jam nor the hotel hairdresser and is apt to reflect what a poor shuffling impostor of a guest he is to have had so few requirements.

Slightly Different.

"Dat were a very excitin' jackpot I won las' night on a bluff," said Mr. Erastus Pinkley as he tilted his cigar and dropped his hat over his eye.

"Did you raise the opener?" asked Mr. James Coliflower.

"No, sah; I opened a razor."—Washington Star.

She Helped.

"Did she help you to propose?"

"Well, rather! She asked how many boxes of candy would pay for an engagement ring."—Detroit Free Press.

Avoid greatness. In a cottage there may be found more real happiness than kings or their favorites enjoy in palaces.—Horace.

His Last Hope Realized.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.)

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by F. Duhring. *
